

Journal of the Historical Society of South Australia
No 48 2020
Editor: Doctor Carolyn Collins

Table of Contents

Editorial	1
Notes on Contributors	3
‘They seem much pleased with us and very friendly’: explaining cordial relations between the people of the Adelaide Plains and early colonists, 1836-1839 Skye Krichauff	5
Parks for Preservation: Arthur F Robin and the campaign for the Belair National Park Sharyn Clarke	25
Charles Todd, the Government Electrician Richard Venus	41
Sir John and Lady Cockburn: suffrage and education Kay Whitehead	57
A New Sense of Citizenship: women’s war work in Unley Sandra Kearney	73
The Quiet Hum of Activity: literary Adelaide in the 1920s Philip Butters	87
An ‘open forum for the discussion of theological questions’: the Adelaide Theological Circle, 1924-2005 David Hilliard	101
From Stock Paddock to Tertiary Education Campus: fifty years of planning and development at The Levels, 1970-2020 Louise Bird &amp; Christine Garnaut	117
Book Reviews	137